ABOUT SHRI VILE PARLE KELAVANI MANDAL

Shri Vile Parle Kelavani Mandal (SVKM) is a Public Charitable Trust registered under the Society's Registration Act and Bombay Public Trusts Act.

SVKM has always been dedicated to provide top-notch education at different levels. From its modest beginnings in 1934, when it took over the Rashtriya Shala, a school founded in 1921 in the wake of the National Movement, SVKM has developed into a significant educational complex that provides top-quality education to more than 32,000 students today. In the early years of India's war for independence, the ethos of SVKM, which is characterised by patriotic enthusiasm, selfless service, and the spirit of indigenous industry, was born. These values serve as the guiding principles for all the institutions that SVKM has established.

Never one to disregard the demands of the business and academic communities, SVKM created the SVKM's College of Law [5 Year Course] in 2004 and renamed it the SVKM's Pravin Gandhi College of Law in 2010. With the support of the University of Mumbai.

ABOUT PRAVIN GANDHI COLLEGE OF LAW

According to Marcel Proust, "The voyage of discovery is not in seeking new landscapes, but in having new eyes." SVKM's Pravin Gandhi College of Law's (5 Year Course) goals and objectives are succinctly stated in this observation. The university is cognizant of the fact that every student possesses the creative muse that is the essence of their uniqueness. In order to achieve this, the college makes use of cutting-edge teaching strategies that motivate students to learn both inside and outside of the classroom.

This institution offers the students a variety of forums to hone their talents through intra- and intercollegiate discussions. An environment that promotes intellectual growth is created by seminars, workshops, trial advocacy through moot competitions, L'avocat, an internal student newsletter that allows students to express their impassioned concerns on subjects, and cutting-edge interactive learning methods in the classroom. This all-encompassing approach to education supports SVKM's Pravin Gandhi College of Law's claim to be a law school with a difference. One of the most significant committees in the college is the Moot Court Society.

ABOUT THE MOOT COURT SOCIETY

Law schools place a lot of emphasis on and revere Proust Moot Court contests, and for good reason. Through its portals, students can develop their advocacy abilities by simulating real-world legal practise and arguing real-world legal practise in fictitious instances. Additionally, mooting aids in the practise of court procedure because forensic practise is mostly oral. Developing arguing strategies, honing research techniques, exploring the various legal requirements and legal precedents, and broadening one's knowledge base are all required for participation in a moot.

In order to do this, freshmen admitted to the institution are immediately provided initiation into a Demo Moot within a week of their admission. The college has made an effort to offer a private Moot Court auditorium that is an exact replica of a courtroom, including a raised dais for the judge/bench, witness stands, prosecution/defense/litigant table, and the bar. They can compete in regional, national, and international contests thanks to this platform. The annual Intra Moot Competition is an illustration of the enthusiasm that mooting generates.

ABOUT THE 11TH EDITION

The Moot Court Society of SVKM's Pravin Gandhi College of Law hosts the National Trial Advocacy Competition. The ardour among the competitors and onlookers changes over the course of the three-day event. The Bench for the Final Round of the 11th Edition comprised of Hon'ble Justice Milind Jadhav and Hon'ble Justice C V Bhadang. Due to unforeseen circumstances Hon'ble Justice C V Bhadang was not able to be in attendance. The team from Government Law College, Mumbai lifted the Winning Trophy and the team from Christ University, Bangalore secured the Runners Up position. The Trial Problem for our flagship event was drafted by skilled professionals in the field with an expertise of over 20 years and the Competition witnessed participation from 24 distinguished colleges across the country.
